Lulu Peña is an artist and certified artisan born in Río Piedras, Puerto Rico during 1981. She grew up in a family very skilled in manual labor. This rich environment helped her develop her curiosity and creativity. She felt drawn to clay primarily because the versatility and malleability of the medium allows her to materialize what her three-dimensional mind imagines. Lulu obtained her Bachelor's Degree in Psychology at the University of Puerto Rico (Río Piedras Campus) and complemented it with courses in drawing, painting and ceramics (Prof. Manuel Pagán -2004). Later on, she completed studies in Interior Design and Decoration at the San Juan School of Interior Design (Hato Rey, Puerto Rico).

Lulu rediscovered her passion for art thanks to Puerto Rican renowned artist and mentor, Diana Dávila who was responsible also for reconnecting her with the medium of clay (2015). She has also taken courses with renowned ceramicists and potters such as Cristina Córdova, Toni Hambleton, Del Harrow and Courtney Martin. In her artistic practice she explores intrinsic issues of human nature such as memory, psycho-emotional processes and mental health. She also, has offered art workshops and courses to diverse audiences at Puerto Rico Museum of Art, Francisco Oller Museum (Bayamón, PR), Gruppo Italia (Guaynabo, PR) and recently at her studio. Her artwork is part of private collections and has been shown in several group exhibitions in PR. In 2022 Lulu was a recipient of the Cristina Córdova Studio and Penland School of Craft Internship where only two artists are selected. Lulu is currently working to create a body of work that will shape her first solo show in the near future. Lulu lives and works in San Juan, Puerto Rico.
