

VisGirda, Rimas (b. 1942, Kaunas, Lithuania, lives in Champaign, IL) began his academic career in science, earning a degree in physics from California State University at Sacramento. He later received a Master of Arts in Art degree from the same university, and completed a Master of Fine Arts in ceramics and sculpture at Washington State University. He has taught at colleges and universities on the west coast and in the Midwest since 1973. His work addresses common issues in contemporary society; experiences and emotions that we all experience on our journey through life. He examines the mundane and commonplace and presents the viewer with a pictorial image that we can all relate to, sometimes positive and sometimes negative depending on the viewer's own personal experiences. His work allows us to examine and see our life and the culture we live in through eyes slanted with wit and humor.
