I'm an artist born and raised in San Juan, Puerto Rico who uses mainly ceramics to produce my art. Graduated from painting and sculpture from the Escuela de Artes Plásticas, I work mainly as a sculptor with clay as my medium. I'm always looking for innovative ways to use the material, nature and the current events in my country are my inspiration.

In addition to my artistic noncommercial work I have developed a commercial line named Cortado y Pulido where I sell my ceramic jewelry and functional objects made out of clay and porcelain.

I have participated in numerous exhibitions in galleries and museums. Participated in various juried "Muestras Nacionales", and recently was selected to be part of the National Collection of Puertorrican Art.

In addition from being part of the Board of Directors of the Liga de Arte de Puerto Rico for 10 years, I directed the institution as Executive Director for four years and decided to rescind to the position to be able to keep working in my art.

Currently I have a studio where I work and teach ceramic classes.
