

BOBI, MY DEAR

Founded by husband and wife team, Diyanah and Mark Begley, Bobi, My Dear is a sustainable, zero-waste production small business where each item is designed and crafted in Dublin, Ireland. Specialising in terrazzo, the homewares are made out of a material called Jesmonite, which is an eco and water-based resin, which means it is much friendlier to the environment as it contains no solvents or VOCs. They strive to make their packaging as eco-friendly as possible, for example, their packing peanuts are made of cornstarch and can be dissolved in water. Bobi, My Dear's range of colourful products includes bookends, bowls, pots, candlestick holders and many more. See more online at bobimydear.com and follow @bobimydear

CHLOË DOWDS

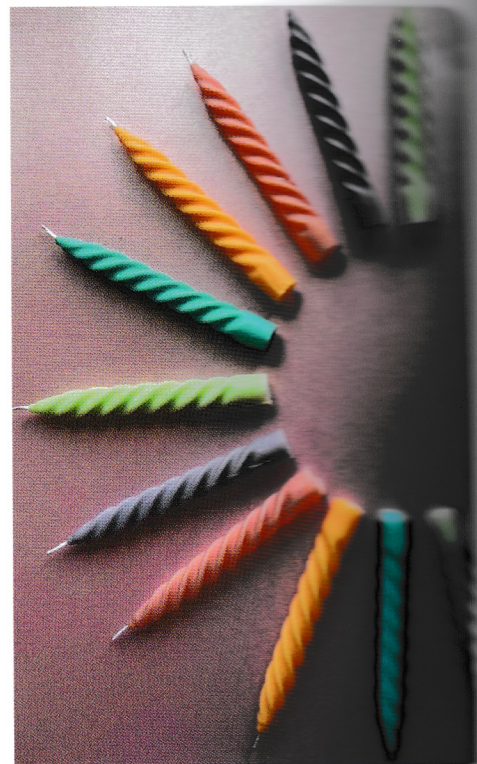

Inspired, in part, by the colour studies of Josef Albers, Chloë uses line and colour as subject matter in this new collection.

The groundwork for these pieces was explored during a residency at the International Ceramics Studio, Kecskemét, Hungary in 2019. Using simple cylinder forms and circles she allows the pieces to interact through careful curation. Chloë controls the palette of greys and pinks by dying porcelain by hand in her studio in Co. Wicklow. This collection is unified through fine inlaid lines and finished using diamond polishing techniques to ensure the work is as soft as marble to the touch. CUAR

Based in the Liberties, Dublin 8, Cuar was founded at the start of 2021 by couple Lorna and Nickie. Their mission is to infuse your home with cheerful energy through bright colours and vibrant hues, adding more joy to your life and any room of your home. They make a selection of hand-poured and hand-dipped soy and vegetable stearin wax candles. The candles come in an array of colours and patterns. Follow @cuar_dublin

JANNI BARS

Born three years ago from a need of plastic free beauty care products, Janni bars now range from personal care products including shampoo, conditioner, soaps and even household and pet products. All products are handmade with care in Maynooth, Co. Kildare, using only naturally derived ingredients that are kind to your skin and hair. Janni prides herself in taking the fun and colourful from nature and incorporating it in her products and at the same time ensuring sustainability is at the core of the process. Solid bars are an easy swap to help you reduce your plastic waste, with no compromise on quality. Check out the whole range at jannibars.com and follow @jannibars
