Dear Council members,

I recommend Yu Hui (Sophia), a young ceramist, to apply for IAC membership. Yu Hui received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Sculpture Department, Jingdezhen Ceramic Institute, and her doctorate from Ceramic Art Department of Dankook University, South Korea.

Yu Hui's ceramic artworks show a unique personal perspective and has a strong visual appeal. Many of her artistic concepts are come from real life. For example, in her early sculpture "Pointing", she has a deep memory of her mother's fingers since she was a child. "Foolish Me" tries to show that growing up is a process of constantly being jolted by reality; Another group of Yu Hui's works "Practice" shows a way to make a peace with herself that in a form of Eastern practitioners, especially in " Practice 2", Yu Hui applied decorative symbols on the practitioners, which has a very unique expression.

Yu Hui has been studying and living in Jingdezhen for many years. She has mastered many skills of ceramics and is a mature ceramic artist. Yu Hui also has a strong sculpture ability, which is well shown in her ceramic sculpture artwork " Practice ".

As a young ceramist who spent a lot of time in her life in Jingdezhen, the porcelain capital in China, she does not aim at imitating the ancients, but constantly explores new forms and languages of ceramic art. In this respect, Yu hui has achieved good results and shows great potential.

Yours sincerely,
Liu Zheng
