最近，一群“洋景漂”在社交媒体上火了。

他们是外国创业者，有高校艺术生，也有艺术家，他们肤色不同、语言不同，但因为陶瓷艺术，于是汇聚在千年瓷都景德镇，得名“洋景漂”。

今年10月，习近平总书记在景德镇考察调研时指出，中华优秀传统文化自古至今从未断流，陶瓷是中华瑰宝，是中华文明的重要名片。记者眼前的“洋景漂”们，架起支架，打开手机，面对镜头，用着不算流利的中文，和大家分享着陶瓷作品创作背后的中国故事。

这群“洋景漂”，现在已经有5000多人。他们对中国文化的向往，启发我们思考：当下，我们该如何与

'Tile: In local and foreign sources, it is the name of Turkish wall ceramics that are used to decorate walls with one glazed side, usually decorated, and made by grinding and combining high amounts of natural materials such as quartz, clay, frit and kaolin into a paste. In Ottoman sources, wall ceramics are also called "kasi". The word "kasi" takes its name from the Iranian city of Kashan, and in Persian, it means wall tile. The term "tile" is a word that entered the literature with the appreciation of Chinese porcelains that reached the Ottoman palace through various means at the end of the 15th century and in the 16th century, meaning "belonging to China".'

The focus of the study is to conduct research on how tiles, which we encounter with certain style repetitions today, can be conveyed with a narrative belonging to today's values and technologies. Our aim is to create a public space installation based on the semi-stylized tile style of the 16th-17th century Classical Ottoman Period, based on human interaction and technology; in this context, creating a connection between the symbolic metabolic relations of the past and the present.
