Art is a way of life,a way for me to explore the world,through which I can understand myself and future. I am a painter and a sculptor. I find that these two different techniques affect and promote each other. Through painting I find freedom of expression, while sculpting, through its spatial character and different textures, enables me to explore some topics in a different manner. My art is about humanity ,all my works aim to explore the truth and essence behind human nature based on the perspectives and thoughts that come from my identity and multiple society roles. I'm fascinated by the complexity of human body and the fluidity of energy. I'm committed to conveying my ideas through human features and bodies,which could bring thinking into audience about the relationship between human and the world. I wish for developing a rich imagination that represents human diversity and reaching the real beauty,value,knowledge that recentered away from the existing defined structures.
