

Maria Helena Sapparoli

Brazil 🇧🇷

Biography

One of the most respected and renowned Brazilian ceramic artists of her generation, Maria Helena Sapparoli was born on 26 February 1955, in Curitiba, Brazil, where she lives and works. A graduate of Fine Arts with a major in Plastic Arts at the University of Arts of Paraná, in 1984, she has been working on her creations in her private studio since 1989. Her extensive resume includes decades (1998-2012) of ceramic and glass teaching at the Sculpture Atelier of the Fundação Cultural de Curitiba.

Highlights

Considered one of the “greatest revelations of Ceramics in the state of Paraná”, she has been quoted as “one of the most original ceramicists of the 90’s” according to Adalice Araujo in her Dictionary of Plastic Arts of Paraná.

Her professional journey includes exhibiting works in Art Shows, Collective Art Exhibitions and Individual Exhibitions receiving national and international awards and recognition.

Art materials and skills

Although Maria Helena Sapparoli has experience working with different materials such as glass and bronze, ceramics continues to be her preferred working material and way of self-expression.

Biografía

One of the most respected and renowned Brazilian ceramic artists of her generation, Maria Helena Sapparoli was born in Curitiba, Brazil, where she lives and works.

A graduate of Fine Arts with a major in Plastic Arts at the University of Arts of Paraná, in 1984, she has been working on her creations in her private studio since 1989 with different materials. Her extensive resume includes decades (1998-2012) of ceramic and glass teaching.

Her professional journey includes exhibiting works in Art Shows, Collective Art Exhibitions and Individual Exhibitions receiving national and international awards and recognition.

Una de las más respetadas y renombradas artistas ceramistas brasileñas, Maria Helena Sapparoli nació en Curitiba, Brasil, donde vive y trabaja.

Graduada en Bellas Artes, con especialización en Artes Plásticas por la Universidad Federal de Paraná en 1984, ella trabaja en sus creaciones en su estudio privado desde 1989 con diferentes materiales. Su amplio currículum incluye décadas (1998-2012) de enseñanza de cerámica y vidrio.

Su carrera profesional incluye exhibición de trabajos en Muestras de Arte, Exhibiciones de Artes Colectivas e Individuales, recibiendo premios nacionales e internacionales además de gran reconocimiento.